

We need more time, more disclosure and more public process to discuss the rules allowing greater concentration of the media. There is too much concentration and corporate control now. Democracy depends on a free, open and diverse media.